

Reidsville Gunman Identified Today As Notorious Yeggman

"S. F." Poe" Is Discovered to Be Ben Johnson, Postoffice Robber With Criminal Past—Two Men See Corpse and Make Identification Positive.

(Special to The Bee.)
REIDSVILLE, N. C., April 11.—The body of an alleged yeggman, whose name was given as S. F. Poe, and who was shot to death Saturday night by police officers in a local store, was today identified as Ben Johnson, of Scottsville, Buckingham county, Va.

The identification was made by two men from the vicinity of Scottsville whose names the police decline to reveal for reasons unknown. The men arrived here today and after viewing the remains closely are said to have identified the body positively as that of Johnson. Whether the men are related to Johnson is not known.

Johnson's age was given as 40 years. He is said to be survived by two sisters, both now living in Richmond. They are Miss Josephine Johnson and Miss Alice Johnson, the latter better known as Laura Johnson. She resides on Clay street between Seventh and Eighth streets at a boarding house. An uncle, John Wesley Johnson also lives in Arvon, Va., according to the men who made the identification.

Johnson is described as a notorious criminal character. He is said to have served two years in the state penitentiary of Virginia for his alleged connection in robberies of post-offices at Melton, Melford, Tappahannock and Saluda, all being Virginia towns, Johnson's term expired six years ago. He is also said to have participated in other robberies and is believed to have been responsible for numerous other postoffice robberies in Virginia and Maryland.

Federal Postoffice Inspectors R. W. Hodgins and E. T. Gregory were in the city today making numerous photographs of the dead man and making records of certain features in order to compare them with the gallery of criminals in Washington to ascertain Johnson's activities and supposed career as a yeggman. The two inspectors are said to have descriptions and records of more yeggmen than any other agent of the government in the section, and are considered experts.

It was stated that they believe Johnson is a notorious man and one of the shrewdest yeggmen in the business. No further definite steps will be taken until the inspectors have compared the photographs with the pictures of dangerous desperadoes now sought by the government authorities. The government had offered a reward of $10,000 for the perpetrator of the many postoffice robberies and should Johnson be identified without a doubt by the inspectors as a yeggman three police officers of this city will receive the amount and divide it between them. They are Officers Normand, Neal and Chaney.

The shot which took the life of Johnson was either fired by Normand or Neal in Heiner's grocery store. Officer Chaney was shot in the thigh, the wound is not serious. The killing was the result of a running pistol duel between the policemen and Johnson. The episode was the outcome of the refusal of W. T. Pettigrew to cash a check for $100, which the police believe was a bribe. Johnson had already succeeded in cashing money orders in Salisbury. When an officer called in response to the request Johnson fired point blank at him after remarking, "Well, I guess you are looking for me," or words to this effect. The battle then followed and resulted in other officers coming to the rescue on hearing the shooting. Panic prevailed for a time.

The police are continuing their efforts to ascertain the identity of Johnson's three confederates, one man and two women, who made their escape following the shooting. A description has been sent out and surrounding clues have been asked to keep a strict watch for such persons. So far the police have no clue as to the identity of the other parties.

Cunning Bootlegger Is Again Entailed

Charlie Gray Caught in Act of Delivering Booze, Faces Fourth Charge of Violating Mapp Act.

The arrest of John Dix, alleged liquor handler and who was banished by the court from Danville for 30 years, was followed yesterday by the capture of another "old timer," Charlie Gray, a negro who not long since served out an eight months term in the city jail upon conviction for violating the Mapp act. Gray was arrested in the alleged act of delivering half a gallon of liquor to George Govas at the latter's residence on Union street.

Gray was completely unopposed yesterday evening when Sergeant J. H. Martin and Patrolman W. S. Edwards, who for several weeks have been under the impression that Gray was "back in the game" and that he was earning a livelihood through the surreptitious handling of spirits. They made their plans to catch him at a boot-stand as one of the most cunning bootleggers who has operated in this section for several years. This is Gray's fourth offense.

Upon being arrested, Mayor Woodling set his bond at $500, which was immediately given. Gray, who was also arrested, was taken to the city jail. Another alleged bootlegger, who was in Gray's seven passenger automobile at the time of the capture, was also arrested and has been required to give a hearing today, but it was found that a state witness prepared to go into the case in the police court, and Gray was anxious to have some witnesses summoned. In the meantime the automobile used by Gray is being held by the police.

George Govas, who was also arrested at the same time as Gray, was later released and it is understood, will not be proceeded against, since he will be the principal witnesses against Gray.

REIDSVILLE, N. C., April 11.—Fifty-five automobiles seized by the county and prohibition officers during the past few weeks are being held in "cold storage" here awaiting disposition by the court. BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain, and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Miss Zadio Stewart, a teacher in the Danville high school, whose home is in Lynchburg, was painfully injured yesterday afternoon on West Main street near Edmunds hospital, when she was knocked down by a Franklin car, driven by Elmer Patterson, of Schoolfield. Patterson failed to stop when he struck the young lady, but later returned.

Miss Stewart was hurried to Edmunds hospital where her injuries were given attention. It was found that the car has struck and badly bruised the hip and leg, but no bones were broken.

From eyewitnesses it was learned that Patterson driving a car filled with boys and another car were proceeding at a rapid rate down West Main street, the two cars apparently racing, one to get in front of the other. Miss Stewart was crossing the street at the time and presumably was not seen by Patterson until he was almost upon her, when he swerved his car sharply, but not enough to avoid hitting her. Patterson drove on, returning to the hospital in about one-half hour where he told Sergeant Martin and Officer Edwards that he did not stop his car at the time because he thought he had not hit Miss Stewart. The name of the driver of the other car has not been ascertained by the police.

Patterson was recognized in the sum of $1,000 by Mayor Wooding for a hearing.

ALL TRACES GONE OF EXPOSITION

The Planters Warehouse was cleared of all traces of the Piedmont Exposition yesterday and all of the out-of-town exhibitors had departed by noon.

Yarborough's band stayed over Sunday and played two engagements at the Leeland Cafeteria, noon and evening. Both programs attracted a large crowd. In the evening the Leeland Tea room was filled with patrons. The Leeland management stated yesterday that Sunday evening musical programs were being considered as a regular thing and if musicians can be obtained regularly, will be put on. The program put on by Yarborough's band Sunday was greatly enjoyed by all the regular patrons and by many others, who came especially to hear the band which had created such a favorable impression while here during the exposition. The band went from Danville to Columbia, S. C., where it will play at the Palmetto.

Manager J. P. Robertson, of the Piedmont Exposition, stated last night that he was greatly pleased with the patronage accorded the exposition by the people of Danville. He also expressed appreciation for the courtesies accorded him by Danville business men, especially those who had booths at the exposition. Mr. Robertson said that he was leaving Danville today for his home in Leesville, where he would take a short rest and then would promote an exposition or a fair at some other city.

GOOD SHOW AT MAJESTIC.

Keeping up its tradition of good shows this season the Majestic theatre has a splendid bill on this week, scheduled for every night of the week except Thursday.

Virgie Duval and his Roseland Maids went over in great style on their initial appearance here last night.

The big hits of the evening were Carl West, the silver voiced soloist, and the Roseland Quartet. Both of these numbers were given much applause.

Harry Mack, character comedian, has a strong line of new stuff and kept his audience laughing most of the time. Yvonne Berkeley, comedian, also put across some catchy lines.

Give Dr. Sydnor Silver Loving Cup

Dr. T. L. Sydnor, a veteran dental surgeon and widely esteemed citizen of Danville, was honored in an unexpected yet all the more pleasing manner on Friday at the annual meeting of the Piedmont Dental society in Lynchburg. It marked the close of his year as president of this society, which he was influential in organizing in this city seven years ago, and his associates in that organization had conceived the happy idea of presenting to him a handsome silver loving cup as a testimonial of admiration and appreciation.

The presentation was made by Dr. James A. Reese, of Lynchburg, who incidentally gave expression to a fine appreciation of the gentleman honored in the course of his address. Dr. Reese said in part: "The words of one of your fellow-men and brother practitioners 'You are the embodiment of all that is highest, noblest and best.' He said that I wish to say in behalf of the Danville dentists that while our respect thus honoring Dr. Sydnor might not be apparent to a casual observer, they are well known to us. He has been a member of our society since its beginning. We cannot speak too highly of him as a fellow-member and brother practitioner, as well as a valuable citizen of the community. His interest in its welfare, his generosity, his willingness to help his brother-dentist in fact, to lend a helping hand to anything that promotes good. His interest in the young people of the community, without regard to their station in life—all these things tend to make us love him and respect him. These are words of the highest praise spoken by your brethren. Thus I see you, a man who has climbed the Lookout Mountain of life, and as you stand you are not like the boy who said, 'I see only my nose, bright, shining, and protruding.' To an illustrative incident he had narrated, but you are the boy that looks back along the trail traversed with its length, its ruggedness, and sometimes perhaps, its steepness, and yet a glad shout goes up from your lips: 'It came! It is more than worth it all to have helped some one else along the way, to have encouraged the faint-hearted, to have succeeded the weak one and to have been thus used of the Lord to lead others in His way. It must be the source of great joy to you, as you stand well up the hill of life to look back along the trail of the friendly years and see the trees of home which you have planted and the fourings of blessedness which you have opened for others."

"Dr. Sydnor, it gives me more pleasure than I can express in words to present to you this token of the esteem and high regard, which your fellow men and brother practitioners place in you. I am sure it will mean a great deal to you to know that they feel so very kindly toward you, and that you will accept this token of their good will, not at all for its intrinsic value, but for their appreciation of you and what you have done and what you in your big-heartedness, have meant to them."

"Ah! Few indeed are the men on whom such a bright light of enlightenment has fallen as they have turned down the beautifully tinted slopes of the Lord to lead others in His way. Dr. Sydnor, we men of Lynchburg and these good men of Roanoke rejoice today to add our words of highest praise to those of your Danville brethren in thus honoring you. May the God of all grace and goodness grant you many, many years in which to live and work and be a blessing and a benediction to each of us."

Dr. Sydnor, though greatly touched, made appropriate and grateful acknowledgment of the fine tribute paid him by the donors and the speaker.

Doctor Arrested For Killing Wife

Former Army Major Declares Mrs. Bryson Shot Herself—Shell-Shock Victim.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., April 10.—Dr. Herbert Bryson, who served with distinction during the World War as a major in the Army Medical Corps, is under arrest here, charged with having fatally shot his wife, Helen Kirby Bryson, at the home at Cassville, Pa., 23 miles from here. Mrs. Bryson died this morning.

Dr. Bryson is 48 years old and his wife, an attractive brunette, was 18 years his junior. They came to Cassville about a year ago and are believed to be wealthy.

The shooting occurred about 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Dr. Bryson telephoned to Dr. Fred Hutchinson of Huntingdon, that his wife had shot herself. In an ante-mortem statement made to District Attorney Chester D. Fetterhoff, Mrs. Bryson accused her husband of shooting her. His arrest followed.

While no definite information could be obtained today as to the past life of either Dr. Bryson or his wife, it is said that the physician suffered shell shock in the Argonne, in September, 1918, he married Mrs. Bryson, who is said to have been a member of a prominent New York family. The Brysons moved to Cassville from Washington.

Major Bryson informed Dr. Hutchinson that his wife had shot herself and he wanted the Huntingdon physician to go out to Cassville to treat her. Dr. Hutchinson said this would involve unnecessary delay and told Dr. Bryson to bring Mrs. Bryson to the Blair Memorial Hospital, at Huntingdon. Unable to obtain an ambulance, Dr. Bryson got in touch with Myron McClain, an undertaker, and the woman was taken to the hospital in a motor hearse. He arrived at 9:30 o'clock last night. There he again told Dr. Hutchinson that the wound was self-inflicted.

About 12:15 a. m. Mrs. Bryson told Dr. Hutchinson that the wound had been inflicted by her husband. District Attorney Fetterhoff was summoned and after taking her ante-mortem statement ordered Bryson's arrest.

Mrs. Bryson told the prosecuting attorney that she and her husband had quarreled yesterday afternoon. Following the argument she went to the second floor of her home and took a bath, she said. Mrs. Bryson told District Attorney Fetterhoff that after bathing she went to the dressing room and locked the door. Dr. Bryson followed her upstairs, she asserted, smashed the door of the dressing room and then shot her with his 45-caliber army revolver.

Examination of her body after death showed that the bullet had entered her stomach.

Neighbors say that Major Bryson and Mrs. Bryson were apparently devoted to each other. The last person to see Mrs. Bryson before she was shot was Mrs. V. Heaton, who left the Bryson home after a visit of several hours.

Mrs. Heaton said she left the house about 15 minutes before the shooting and there did not seem to be any trouble. An inquest will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow afternoon by Coroner F. L. Schum. District Attorney Fetterhoff today spent a great deal of time at the Bryson home. Returning to Huntingdon, he said that his preestablishment of a strong case against the doctor had resulted in the Bryson.

Dr. Bryson, it is said, showed evidence of suffering from shell shock and at times talked incoherently. The authorities have thus far failed to learn the cause of the quarrel.

Greensboro Votes On Station Issue

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 10.—The voters of Greensboro will decide by their ballots today between sunrise and sunset whether Greensboro is to have a new passenger station and an undercrossing between the two sections of Greensboro, all to be paid for by the Southern Railway company without one cent of cost to the citizens and taxpayers of the city. The question is, does Greensboro favor loaning the city's credit to the Southern, so this railway company can proceed at once with this much needed improvement.

Those who favor the station plan must go to the polls and cast their vote in favor of the bond issue; those who do not vote at all are counted against it. It is necessary that 174 votes be cast in favor to give a bare majority, but the advocates of the plan claimed last night that they would win the election by a nice majority. It is required, however, that it will take a lot of hard work to get so many people to the polls and allow them to vote within the space of a day. Total registration is 3427.

MANICURIST IN SENATE RACE, 1922 STYLE

PEARL THOMAS

TOLEDO, O., April 11.—The newest thing in political campaigns is being worked out here by Pearl Thomas, 22, girl candidate for the Ohio State Senate.

It has the front porch system backed off the map! And it's simple. Here's how it works:

Miss Thomas is a manicurist. She's employed at a local barber shop. You enter the shop and seek her services. And, as she deftly applies the file and orange stick, she outlines her platform and asks your support at the polls.

"There are three planks in my platform," she tells you. "I'm for beer and light wines, women's rights, including the inviolability of bobbed hair, and no Blue Sundays."

Then she grasps your other hand and goes on.

"This country never will be the same until we adopt a more liberal attitude toward the conduct of our citizens. Beer and light wines are no sin. I'm not for the saloon but I do not stand for moderation in this thing we call prohibition."

"I'm for bobbed hair—you can see that—and she touches her head—and I'm for short skirts, too, but not too short."

And so the political speech rolls on till your nails are finished.

Is the campaign successful? Miss Thomas says so. She says at the conclusion of each speech 9 out of 10 of her male customers raise their neatly manicured right hands and swear they'll mark "X" opposite her name on the ballot next fall.

Miss Thomas will be the youngest senator who ever sat in the Ohio upper chamber—if she's not beaten by one of the two male candidates.

WHAT COLORADO RIVER DEVELOPMENT MEANS

(EDITOR'S NOTE: America's greatest waterpower and land-reclamation project is nearing a crisis. Will private interests control it, or states rights block it? Or will the government carry it out for the benefit of the people? The Bee sent its special correspondent to the scene.)

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
DENVER, April 11.—The bridling of 6,000,000 wild horsepower—represented by the Colorado river—to agricultural and industrial purposes in the seven states adjacent to the stream, is in the balance.

The conclusion of the Colorado River Commission field hearings, presided over by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, advanced the project to the critical stage, and the formulation of an agreement between California, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Colorado, Utah and Wyoming on the one side and the federal government on the other is the next step.

Its realization—still in doubt—would mean co-ordinated, scientific public conservation and use of what Hoover terms "one of the nation's greatest assets."

Failure would mean a greedy scramble, endless litigation, the exploitation and "grab" in which the rights of the many would be sacrificed to the so-called "rights" of the few.

Will Be Difficult

That agreement is going to be a tough job, owing to the reluctance to compromise. "States rights" will play an important part.

Engineers who have studied the Colorado—notably Director Arthur P. Davis of the U. S. Reclamation Service—unite in saying there is enough water for all for at least 50 years. Yet Colorado and Utah, especially, are loath to accept any fixed proportion on their ground that it might jeopardize future upper basin developments.

California wants flood protection and security in its Imperial Valley reclamation. Nevada seeks power to develop low grade ores. Arizona and New Mexico demand enough water from the upper basin to secure irrigation expansion. Colorado and Utah want unimpeded use of their waters, with limitations below. Wyoming asks for allocation to safeguard its future.

Other Complications

These primary demands are crisscrossed with a host of political and engineering complications.

Stripping away those raw rivalries, however, and the jealousies of frontier states, there is sufficient common interest for the creation of an agreement, at least over a long test period. And that is the prodigious task confronting the commissioners during the next 90 days, after which, if a contract is framed, it goes to the state legislatures and to Congress for ratification.

Here in the making is one of the most significant precedents for the utilization of America's great natural resources—a real test of the democratic doctrine of the greatest good to the greatest number.

New Building Boom Alarming Bankers

RICHMOND, April 10.—Heretofore building booms have been considered large when home construction went into the hundreds of thousands, and when the building totals during the boom period went into the millions. Never has Richmond seen a year until 1922 when builders thought nothing of erecting millions of dollars in homes and the building total during the spring months alone promises to climb from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

But such is the case. The construction spurt the city is taking this year is growing at such an enormous rate that bankers, instead of being pleased, are actually concerned, and a note of warning has been sounded by several conservative financiers.

Not only residence work, but business and church construction is booming. One architect has in his office plans for $1,000,000 worth of capitalist churches alone, most them located in Virginia. Another declared last night that seven church jobs have been turned over to him and that he has been compelled to refuse the work because of the great amount already accepted. Seven local churches are either breaking ground this spring or planning to build before the year is out.

Ocean View Folk Ask Trinkle To Act In Mercer Murder

NORFOLK, April 10.—Residents of Ocean View have appealed to Governor Trinkle for a detail of experienced detectives to investigate the death of Ruth Mercer and to apprehend her slayer.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Ocean View Ku Klux Klan will assemble at Mercers' Hall, Portsmouth avenue and First street, ostensibly to listen to a lecture by a Richmond minister. It is intimated at the View, however, that at this meeting plans will be formulated for an independent probe of the tragedy.

Detachments of klansmen in full regalia visited the various churches at Ocean View yesterday morning. At each church a masked individual proceeded up to the pulpit, while his comrades waited in the lobby, and presented the minister with a circular letter announcing his meeting that is to be held tonight. As the members of the congregation left the church, each one was given a copy of the announcement. The subject of the lecture thus advertised is given as "The Ku Klux Klan," but from the publicity given the matter, it is generally believed that something of intense interest to the entire community will develop.

Genoa Rushes Links For Lloyd George

GENOA, April 10.—On a steep hillside back of the Villa Alberti workmen are clearing a space for a 9-hole golf course for Premier Lloyd George.

A fortnight ago the mayor asked a Britisher here to arrange for golf for the delegates, apparently thinking it was as easy to prepare for as tennis. The Englishman explained and the matter was dropped.

Then Mr. Lloyd George arrived, bringing his golf clubs, for he did not want to be without his most links. His valet came in saying that they are doing the best they can, although if the premier fizzes his drive the ball will go bounding down to the Mediterranean, half a mile away.

Cartrell's Body Found In River

Corpse of Man Who Killed 17-Year-Old Girl Taken from Monocacy—He Had Letters from Victim.

FREDERICK, Md., April 10.—Badly decomposed, but recognizable, the body of Harvey Cartrell, who, in a jealous rage, shot and killed Miss Arta Ives Jenkins, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jenkins, at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hess, Ruckeytown, six weeks ago, was found in the Monocacy river near Frederick Junction today.

Partly submerged, it had lodged against a portion of an old leghorn wall, and was discovered by Walter Harman, who notified Sheriff Jones. Cartrell's parents were notified and the body was taken home this evening.

The body was found at 12:30, almost exactly the hour Cartrell fired the bullet into the brain of Miss Jenkins. In his pockets were found two water-soaked letters signed "Arta," a pocket containing a small picture of the girl, a wrist watch, another small watch and an automobile registration card bearing his name. He wore a brown suit of clothing and brown shoes. The body had washed a mile down the river.

Finding the body concludes a chapter involving the killing of a girl just budding into womanhood by a young man crazed with jealousy. He had been paying Miss Jenkins attention at her home at Barrett, Carroll county for some months. About the first of the year she came to the home of her grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Hess, to care for the latter, who had not been in good health.

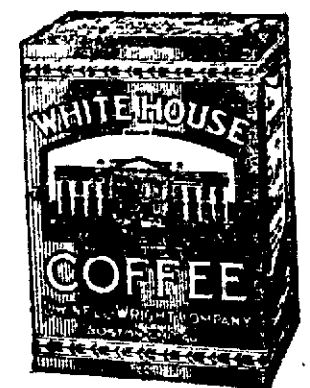

April 5 Cartrell Cartrell drove to Ruckeytown in an automobile and called for the girl at the Hess home. She went into the parlor to meet him and a moment later a pistol report started the Hess family. Mr. Hess ran into the room and found his granddaughter lying dead. Cartrell ran from the house, jumped into his automobile and started toward Frederick.

About a mile and a half from the city limits Cartrell saw an officer approaching. He jumped from his car, leaped over a fence and with the officer in pursuit started across a field. The officer fired one shot at the fugitive, but before he could fire again Cartrell passed over a hill leading to the banks of the Monocacy river and was not again seen alive.

Officers searched for several days, but found no trace of him. While many persons held to the theory that he drowned himself, the general supposition was that he escaped and a country-wide search was made for him. A reward of $500 alive and $100 for his body was offered by the county commissioners. Yesterday a special session of the grand jury Cartrell was indicted for murder. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Santry Cartrell, Morgan Station.

The overseer of Zion City, Ill., is reported to have offered a reward of $1,000 to anyone who can prove the world is round and that it moves. Ancient Greece made demi-gods of her scientists and physicians.

Tobacco Board Of Trade 'Hands Off' Co-Operative Sales

Belcher. The other standing committees were re-elected with few changes.

The report of membership showed that the association is thriving. Thirteen new firms were reported during the past year, bringing the total membership up to 86 buyers and eight warehouse firms.

One of the most important matters agreed upon by the trade yesterday afternoon was the adoption of a resolution providing for four simultaneous sales next season and the determination to open the Danville market on October 2nd—a date much later than usual.

The quadruple sale idea has been before the association before and has been defeated. This year, however, it was agreed upon with little or no opposition.

While there was passing reference to co-operative marketing the Board of Trade did not take any definite stand on the proposition. The warehousemen sought the adoption of a resolution, the sense of which was the endorsement of their action in announcing that auction sales would be continued next season.

The report of the basket committee showed that the plan is now well established and working in a most satisfactory way.

Resolutions with respect to the membership of E. K. Jones were adopted and appear elsewhere. The annual report of the retiring president, W. C. Woodfin, follows:

Danville, Va., April 10, 1922.

To the Members of the Danville Tobacco Association, Danville, Va. Gentlemen:

Following the usual custom, I submit herewith my report of the activities of your association for the past year.

The year, so far as the association is concerned, has been rather an uneventful one. Prospects early in the season indicated and pointing to a large and useful crop of tobacco, were shattered later by one of the most prolonged droughts known for many years.

A conservative estimate of the loss sustained by the market from this cause alone would be from twelve to fifteen million pounds.

Of the 1920 crop, which was the premier in the history of the market, 55,527,377 pounds were sold on the local market at an average of $26.19, while the gross sales for the 1921 crop amounted to $3,979,645 pounds, at an average of $19.57. The general average held close around 24c until the latter part of the season, when an enormously large percentage of common, low-grade tobacco began to show up in the offerings and this occasioned the average which had been so well maintained up to that point to drop to the final average for the season, $19.57.

While the crop produced some desirable and useful tobacco from a manufacturer's point of view, yet it was generally termed a "dry weather" crop. Good to fine wraps were noticeably scarce and in strong demand.

In number of pounds sold the local market rose from third place from the top, which point she was forced to take in the 1920 crop, to second place, being excelled this year only by one other market, whose record shows sale of 42,864,162 pounds.

This speaks very well for the market since Winston-Salem, who was our closest competitor for the second round of the ladder, drew her supplies from a territory blessed by more favorable seasons, which produced tobacco with more body and weight than prevailed in the districts tributary to the Danville market.

General Conditions. The preceding crop, that of 1920, proved to be the largest that was ever produced in the history of the trade, a total of about 650 million pounds of bright Virginia, North and South Carolina and Georgia. Notwithstanding the general depression and stagnation in the tobacco trade, as well as other lines of business throughout the world brought about by readjustment of conditions, and in spite of numerous protests by addressees to planters to reduce the acreage, a large crop was set out in 1921 and but for the drought during the growing period another bumper crop would have been produced.

Statistics for the 1921 crop are not available at this time, but it is estimated at around 375 or 400 million pounds of brights, this being somewhat in excess of a normal crop. The average will be around 22 1/2 cents. Moderate stocks of redried lots, in both old and new, are held by dealers, consisting, generally speaking, of common to good grades, although some scattering lots of fine cigarette types are to be had. Old stocks in the hands of English manufacturers are generally being depleted and indications point to an improvement in trade with Great Britain. The appreciated value in the pounds sterling which has prevailed for some months has been a decided advantage to the English manufacturer, who had to replenish his stock. It might be added that supplies held by manufacturers on the continent of Europe, as well as other foreign countries, have been also reduced, but the low rates of foreign exchange makes buying in large quantities almost prohibitive. Indications point to a return to normalcy on the horizon of the business world, and it is earnestly hoped that by the time the new crop which is now being planted, is ready for market that these conditions will have materialized, resulting in an active market throughout the coming season.

Good Roads. The efforts put forth by this association, as well as other organizations of the city, looking forward to the betterment of the highways entering into the city, have in a large measure been accomplished, but there is still much work to be done in this connection, and I want to urge our good roads committee, as well as all our members to continue to use their influence and co-operation in this great and important work.

Deaths. Our association has sustained losses in its membership by death during the year of the following members: J. D. Gwynn, Poin S. Robertson, J. C. Dickerson, John E. Hughes, E. K. Jones.

I wish again to express the thanks of this association to the Danville Register and Evening Bee for publishing so many items of interest to the market throughout the season.

I also desire to express my thanks to the various committees for the faithful discharge of their duties, to the entire membership for the many courtesies shown me and to our secretary and supervisor, who has been so faithful in the discharge of his many duties. I commend your usual good will and co-operation to my successor, and extend to you my best wishes in all of your undertakings.

Respectfully submitted,

W. C. WOODFIN, President.

Sheriffs Save Man From Mob At Fort Myer

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Sheriff A. C. Clements and Deputy Sheriff Cairns arrested "Summitt" Taylor, alias William Moore, colored, at 3 o'clock this morning and by locking him in the Fort Myer Heights jail saved him from two score pursuers who were looking for him following an alleged criminal assault on Annie Turner, colored, about midnight on the farm of Herbert Carter at Four Mile Run.

The Turner girl is in the Alexandria hospital terribly lacerated as a result of the assault and physicians say she will probably die.

Moore is said to have admitted the crime to Sheriff Clements this morning. About midnight Moore who was on his way home, persuaded the girl to get into his car. He is then said to have driven toward Alexandria and after threatening her with death if she made an outcry, attacked her. The girl was thrown out of the car in the Alexandria, where she was found by the police, who rushed her to the hospital.

On hearing the girl's story, the Alexandria police called Sheriff Clements, who arrested Moore at his home at Knox station. As Clements arrived at the home of the prisoner, several other cars, filled with irate citizens, drew into the yard. The sheriff was able to smother Moore away through the back door and got him safely to jail.

Detectives Guard Rockefeller Jr., At Opening Of Church

NEW YORK, April 10.—The New Park Avenue Baptist church, at 64th street and Park avenue, held its first service Sunday. With the opening of the church was changed from the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, which was formerly at Fifth avenue and 46th street.

Fearing the presence of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who attended the service and who afterward conducted the Bible class, might attract cranks or possibly some product of the present crime wave, the police department sent two detectives to the church as a body guard for Mr. Rockefeller. In addition there were present several uniformed men.

Mr. Rockefeller was surprised at the precaution taken by the police. He said that while he had not asked for police protection, he was grateful to the detectives and thanked them warmly for looking after him during the service. He shook them off, however, after the service. He was photographed by a bevy of photographers.

Mercer Will Be Set Free

NORFOLK, April 10.—Edward F. Mercer, youthful husband of Ruth Mercer, whose body was found on the beach at Ocean View a week ago, will probably be released today from the Norfolk county jail, where he has been held since Thursday morning, charged with murder.

The clerk at the Buddies' club of Baltimore, arrived here this morning and it is said, will make affidavit before Judge C. W. Coleman, of Norfolk, Mercer was at the club last Saturday evening a week and also on the following Sunday. He also said there are many other ex-service men at the club who can testify to the same thing.

While police at work on the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Mercer have abandoned the theory that her husband had any connection with it, they are still checking up on Private Frank McEntee, of the marine corps, under arrest at the St. Helena barracks, also charged with the murder of the young woman.

They have satisfied themselves that McEntee's story at the barracks in his whereabouts from 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon until 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning is true, but they are not yet certain that he went back to the barracks at that hour.

Squier's Radio Tip Brings Trade To Electric Men

WASHINGTON, April 10.—When Major General George O. Squier, chief of the army signal corps, recently succeeded in operating a radio telephone apparatus by connecting it with an ordinary electric light, amateurs over the country decided to try his method.

As a result electric lighting plants in various cities have been nearly disorganized, hundreds of homes have been plunged into temporary darkness and many of the amateurs have had their machines wrecked. Electricians and dealers in electrical supplies have been the only gainers.

The explanation was quickly forthcoming. Newspaper accounts of Gen. Squier's experiment were not technical reports, and the idea took root that his scheme did away with antennae and other wires—that, one simply turned the switch and enjoyed the music.

But the average electric light circuit gives 110 volts, while a radio machine is built to take about six. The combination was disastrous. Either the fuse, the radio machine or something else had to go, and they went in large numbers.

Husband Kills Wife, Hunting For Burglar

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 10.—Sam Crump, 50 years old, shot and killed his wife at his home just over the Mecklenburg-Union line Sunday night at 10 o'clock. The husband is said to have mistaken his wife for a burglar and fired, killing her almost instantly.

The tragedy occurred three miles from Mint Hill, where the Helms family were murdered Sunday. Mr. Crump heard a noise at a window and thinking it a burglar, he said, got his shot gun and went out. Mrs. Crump also got up and went out, unknown to her husband. In a few seconds the wife came into view around the corner of the house, and in the semi-darkness the husband fired.

Mrs. Crump was a Miss Newell of the Morning Star township, this county and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison Newell. She is survived by her husband and several children, some of them grown.

Tobacconists Play At Richmond Today

Tom Abbott's Tobacconists will play their first exhibition game today, when they cross bats with Ray Ryan's Richmond Colts, of the Virginia League, the game to be staged in that city. Managers Abbott and Ryan completed arrangements for a series of two games yesterday and the Danville aggregation will leave for Richmond this morning at 8 o'clock, arriving there at 1:35.

No doubt the Richmond fans will turn out in large numbers to witness the game between their home team and Abbott's aggregation owing to the fact that Abbott played with that club last year and proved to be a favorite with baseball fans of that place. The Danvillians will return to this city after the second game Thursday.

The line-up for the local team was given out by Manager Abbott as follows: McIntosh, cf. Smith 2b, Worth 1b, Duffy 3b, Marcotte ss, Bashore rf, Regan of Abbott c. Beaman derf c, Atkinson p, Harris p, Rodgers p. Abbott expects to use all three of the pitchers during the two games. The above named men were all that will leave with the team this morning.

The remainder are still in the city and will go through their regular practice twice daily.

Manager Abbott has already begun to weed out his men. This was evidenced by the fact that he last night during the course of today, released Pitcher Martin, Infielder Elssner and Outfielder Brazil. At the same time it was announced that several other players are on their way to Danville to join the locals. Duffy, rated as a first-class shortstop, is on his way here and is expected sometime during the course of today. Treador, one of the old men, has wired that he will report Monday. Kelley, an outfielder secured from the St. Louis Cardinals, is also expected to arrive today. Pitcher Gibson has wired that he is on his way from Harrisburg, Pa. Gibson is well recommended and should prove a great asset to the pitching staff. Outfielder Hamilton, of the Reading club in the International League, and another pitcher named Easter, who is known as an excellent twirler, will be in the city in a day or so.

Abbott has been a very busy man for the past several days and seems very much pleased with the material from which he has to select his team. He reports that every man is doing his utmost to land a permanent place on the team and some of them are already in excellent condition to begin playing. He took especial notice of Pitcher Harris yesterday and commented very favorably on it last night. Abbott also said he was well pleased with the work of others who have been practicing for several days, while some few have just recently reported and have not gotten to their best yet. The grounds are said to be in good condition and will be in excellent shape by the opening of the season.

The team will carry their new uniforms along with them to Richmond today. The two games will be a great help to the manager in seeing just what the men can do. Although he has seen them in practice twice daily, a real game will be a great aid in enabling him to see the weak points.

Genoa Conference Has Stormy Session

The question of disarmament at this conference.

Mr. Lloyd George hastened to intervene, and in his contention that disarmament could not be taken up, certainly not before a peace basis had been reached at Genoa, he was supported by Signor Facta. Eventually the discussion on this point ceased, after M. Chicherin said that the Russian delegation would bow to the collective will of the conference. The French delegates disclosed the fact that disarmament is not on the agenda, and that therefore this matter was not to be taken up for consideration.

The keynote of Lloyd George's speech was peace, and he made a powerful appeal to the delegates to work in unison for the restoration of good relations and normal economic conditions throughout the world. He believed that if the conference was successful in its achievements, the United States "would not merely come in, but come in gladly."

The Italian premier, who was elected permanent chairman of the conference, was equally in earnest in his desire for unanimity and promised the aid of Italy in carrying out any resolution likely to guarantee peace and stability among the nations.

M. Barthou pledged the loyal support of France in whatever the conference might do to put into execution the tasks of reconstruction and good relationship which it has mapped out. Premier Lloyd George, in his speech before the conference said:

"This is the greatest gathering of European nations which has ever assembled on this continent, and having regard for the magnitude of the assembly, the character of its representation and the importance of the topics we are here to discuss, the results of the conference will be far-reaching in their effects, either for better or for worse, upon the destiny not merely of Europe, but of the whole world."

"We must meet on equal terms, provided we accept equal conditions. We are not here as allies and enemy states; we are not here as belligerents or neutrals; we have not come together as monarchists of Republicans or socialists. We are assembled as the representatives of all the nations and peoples of Europe to seek out in common the best methods for restoring the shattered prosperity of this continent."

"These conditions, inviting the powers, were laid down at Cannes. They apply to all alike; they are the conditions which heretofore have been accepted by all civilized communities as the basis of international good faith. I will summarize them in two or three sentences."

"The first is, when a country enters into contractual obligations with another country or its nationals for value received, the contract cannot be repudiated whenever the country changes its government without returning value. The second is that no country can wage war on the institutions of another. The third is that one nation shall not engage in aggressive operations against the territory of another. The fourth is that the nationals of one country shall be entitled to impartial justice in the courts of another."

"If any people reject these elementary conditions of civilized intercourse between nations they cannot be expected to be received into the comity of nations."

"Europe undoubtedly needs a common effort to repair the devastation wrought by the most destructive war ever waged in this world. That war came to an end three years ago."

"Europe, exhausted with its fury, with the loss of blood and treasure it involved, is staggering under the colossal burdens of debt and reparation it entailed. The pulse of commerce is beating feebly, wildly; in some lands artificial activity is stimulated either by demands for repairing the ravages of war or by generation of thrift by the frugal and industrious among the people; but legitimate trade, commerce and industry are everywhere disorganized and depressed. "What is the first need of Europe? Peace, a real peace. We propose to study the currency . . . good. We propose to examine the question of exchange. That also is good. We propose to discuss transport and credit. That is also good. But, unless peace is established and good will amongst nations, all these discussions will be of no avail."

THE MODERN FLAPPER

MISS ANNA HOOVEY

BY ROY GIBBONS

CHICAGO, April 11.—"The Flapper" Being a sketch from modern life in one act

Cast: The Flapper ... Miss Anna Hoovey
Magistrate ... Judge John Haas
Ensemble ... Policemen, lawyers and court clerks.

Scene ... District Police Court

Enter the flapper.
CLERK, reading aloud from record: "Anna Hoovey! You are charged with being a flapper—er—ah—with drinking intoxicating liquors. Guilty or not guilty?"

FLAPPER: "For flapping, yes. Drinking to excess, no!"

COURT, speaking from the bench. "Come here, young woman. How old are you?"

FLAPPER, with trembling voice: "Twenty-one, your honor."

COURT: "What do you consider flapping? What is a flapper?"

FLAPPER: "A girl with lots of speed, and plenty of control, your honor." (Titters from onlookers.)

COURT: "See here, young woman, none of your nonsense."

FLAPPER: "But that's it, sir."

COURT: "How about this drinking charge? Don't you know that's wrong? Have you been brought in for drinking before?"

FLAPPER: "Yes, sir. Every flapper takes a drink—when she can get it."

Pause. Court glares at young woman's bobbed hair, flat-heeled shoes, and cigarette case hung on a chain from arm. Starts looking feverishly through great volumes of law books.

Onlookers whispering to one another. "He's looking for the flapper law."

COURT: "Young woman, this has got to stop. I hereby sentence you to attend Sunday school for one month, at the end of which time you will return to this court and produce a written testimonial of your Bible class regularity and also a baptismal certificate."

FLAPPER, looking as though someone had hit her: "But judge—ah—"

COURT: "Now, no discussions. Do what you're told or there'll be a jail sentence."

FLAPPER, meekly again: "Yes, sir."

COURT: "Next case."

Makes Appeal To Ex-Service Men

(By The Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, April 11.—Ex-service men are asked to return to their home town to get a job in an appeal by Hanford MacNider. The national commander of the American Legion has asked the Associated Press to read out this appeal to jobless veterans who he said are concentrating in larger cities where unemployment is becoming worse.

WRANGLER MAY CAUSE SOME WRANGLING.

(Birmingham News)
Like the true pioneering Britisher he is, Mr. Vilhjalmr Stefansson may be likened to the roaring lion going about seeking whatever he may annex for the enlargement of the British empire. But when he latches onto Wrangle Island, some hundred miles off Siberian coast and some 300 miles off Alaska, saying that he will go forthwith to George V and pin the map on his breast, so to say, for the good of Britannia, he may actually be counting chickens before they hatch. Whether or not Uncle Sam will have anything to say about this rugged and rocky and uninhabited—save perhaps for penguins and seals—promontory thrusting in the Arctic Sea, is an interesting question. Turn to your history of American explorations and you will find that George Washington De Long, an American explorer, first discovered this land in 1867, and that Hooper, also an American, visited it in 1881 and took possession of it in the name of the United States. There is in this brief episode of the Stefansson "achievement" plenty of room for the argument as serious as that of the Behring Sea and Pribilof Island misunderstandings. Really there should be no controversy at all, for it looks as if Mr. Stefansson is overlooking his hand.

KNIGHT TEMPLAR SERMON
Dr. J. M. Shelburne Preaches to Large Representation of the Order.
On Sunday morning the members of Dove Commandery, No. 7, Knights Templar, turned out in full uniform to the number of 82, to hear the annual sermon, which was preached by the pastor, Rev. J. M. Shelburne, D. D., in the First Baptist church. Dr. Shelburne had chosen as his subject "The Friend That Sticks," basing his discourse upon the scriptural words "There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother." In an earnest and thoughtful manner he expounded the text and applied it to the experience and the needs of men.

The commandery in its showy uniforms, reminiscent of the days of militant Masonry and Christianity, presented a fine appearance and had probably the largest attendance it has ever presented on a similar occasion. Among those present in uniform were Past Grand Commanders E. H. Miller and A. W. Traylor, Grand Warden W. C. Woodling and Past Commanders Penn, Posey, King, Waddill, Smith and Eury.

JAPAN BUYS LARGELY OF PHILIPPINE HEMP

MANILA, P. I., April 8.—(By Mail)
—Out of the total of 803,598 bales of hemp exported from the Philippines during the year 1921 Japan bought 168,390 bales, or more than one-fifth of the total. Hemp dealers say that the Japanese have continued to buy during the first two months of 1922 clearing the market of considerable stocks of damaged fibre suitable for use in paper making.

The exports of hemp for 1920 amounted to 1,069,389 bales, or 257,221 bales more than in 1921.

HAVE YOU

Heard about the man who bit off his nose to spite his face? Very foolish was he not? But at that he was not more foolish than the person who buys an inferior Ice Box, or Refrigerator to save food and ice. And remember a cheap article is cheap only on the day you buy it. Better buy a Lorton Refrigerator or an Eddy Ice Chest and reap big dividends in the preservation of health and the saving of money.

CZARINA'S PEARLS SAVE GENERAL SEMENOFF

NEW YORK, April 11—A string of pearls—340 of them—that once belonged to the Royal Russian family was all that kept General Gregory Semenov, Russian terror, out of a New York jail.

"It was the closest call I ever had," the Cossack said, lump from his legal fight.

"And I saved him!" smiled his young wife, not yet 20.

It was the second time that she had done it. On entering this country, the general was threatened with a charge of bigamy. But his bride swore that he had been properly divorced from his former wife. The general was allowed to go on.

"It was a glorious trip," he says "from Vancouver through the great American west. I was received royally by the leading citizens of the leading cities. But here in New York—wasn't it shameful?"

Although the general is a military leader of ability, he seems to fall short as a business man. For some of his activities, a judgment of $300,000 was entered against him in Harbin, China. The creditors secured an order from the U. S. Supreme Court, and had him taken into custody as he alighted from the train here.

"At first I thought it was a new form of greeting," said the general, "a pompous official stepped forward and presented me with a testimonial. But it was a warrant for my arrest."

Then followed a quest for $25,000 bail. At last a bondsman was found. But he wanted security.

"So I gave up something that was as dear to me as life," Mme. Semenov took up the story. "I gave them the pearls."

"Originally they belonged to the czarina. They were given to a nace who passed them over to my mother, when things began to look bad in Petrograd."

"I promised never to part with them. But sooner than see Gregory go to jail I made the sacrifice."

They are worth $40,000, according to an appraisal made by a jeweler.

Will Not Sell Bolling Hall

RICHMOND, April 10—Judge A. T. Browning, of the circuit court of Goodland, has stayed in Richmond, stopping the sale of Bolling Hall, the historic estate on the James river, which was to be sold at auction today by the Louisville Real Estate and Development Company. The postponement was asked by the owner, A. J. Jackson, who was required to furnish a bond for $5,000.

The sale was called off, it was said, because of differences with the law between the owner and the selling firm, although the selling firm had made a contract to purchase the sale of the property and had advertised it all over the country. Great interest had been aroused in the sale through the publicity given it by the newspaper firm.

D. C. Brown, president of the real estate company, said that the postponement was due to the fact that the owner had failed to pay the purchase money and that the company had no right to sell the property until it was paid.

Bolling Hall is a large, old house, built in 1790, and is one of the finest of its kind in the South. It is situated on a high bluff overlooking the James river, and is surrounded by a large park. The house was built by the Bolling family, who were one of the leading families in Virginia. The house was sold to the Louisville Real Estate and Development Company in 1917, and was to be sold at auction today.
